

On Encouragement:

Sources We've Made Available To Date

As we anticipate the upcoming War Against the Saints, we thought it would be most helpful to share words of encouragement now, as opposed to waiting until the days of the war against the Saints begin to unfold. While we will be publishing other articles (NEW ones which seek to bring blessing during this more challenging period) in the near future, we wanted to list some of our already published materials which lean in that direction – toward the worthy goal of encouraging the Saints.

Below are some of our currently published appeals. Enjoy. Be edified.

Some who are in the habit of gleaning from our web ministry efforts may say: “But I’ve seen these.” Okay. May we suggest this: Review them with the consideration of SHARING THESE HELPFUL RESOURCES WITH OTHERS. ☺

We pray the above will foster a Christ-centered perspective, one which will indeed bring comfort and endurance during the upcoming season which the Word of God calls the War Against the Saints.
